

The Rev. Canon Dr. J. Ronald Moock, Sr.

Academic Dean & Professor of Church History

- B.A., Diploma, Central High School for Boys, Philadelphia, PA.
- B.A. in Philosophy, The College of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA.
- M.Div., Theological Seminary of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, PA
- Post-graduate studies in Apologetics, Westminster Theological Seminary, Glenside, PA.
- Nouthetic Counseling Study and Training with Dr. Jay Adams, Christian Counseling and Educational Foundation
- Post-graduate studies, McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, IL., South Carolina

Extension Campus.

- D.D., Cummins Memorial Theological Seminary, Summerville, SC

Canon Moock was born and raised in Philadelphia, PA. He was baptized and confirmed in the Reformed Episcopal Church (REC) and ordained Presbyterian (Priest, Elder) in 1967. He served two parishes in Pennsylvania before coming to South Carolina in 1968. After coming to Summerville, he met and married his wife, Kathy, a Registered Nurse with her MSN degree, and they have three children, and two grandchildren

He has served in many positions in the Diocese of the Southeast, REC. More recently he was appointed the Canon to the Bishop Ordinary of the Diocese of the Southeast, and the Academic Dean of Cummins Seminary, where he also teaches Church History. He has also served on many Boards and Committees of the General Council of the Church, and on the Liturgy Task Force of the Anglican Church in North America (ACNA)

In addition to diocesan duties, over the years, Canon Moock has served as interim Rector/Vicar of ten parishes in the Diocese. He is presently helping with the mission of the Promiseland Church, John's Island.